GENERAL INFORMATION

NAME: United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.

FOUNDED: March 16, 1802, by an Act of Congress.

ENROLLMENT: Authorized strength is 2,496. The men of the Corps of Cadets are a cross-section of American Youth, selected on the basis of ability and promise. They come from every state and territory in the Union. They hail from the city and the farm. Their fathers are mechanics, farmers, salesmen, lawyers, teachers—the men of America. There are Protestants, Jews, and Catholics. There are Negroes and Whites. All live in barracks, eat the same food, wear the same uniform, pursue the same courses, take the same training, and receive the same pay. Neither cadets nor officers are interested in any cadet's financial and social status.

MOTTO: DUTY, HONOR, COUNTRY. Every cadet pledges himself to the ideals symbolized by the Military Academy's motto: attention to DUTY, devotion to HONOR, and service to our COUNTRY.

COLORS: Black, Gold, Gray.

NICKNAME: "Army," "Cadets," "Black Knights."

MASCOT: Mules—"Hannibal" and "Pancho." The latter is a tiny burro presented to the Military Academy by former Ambassador Colon Alfaro of Ecuador.

PARADES: A Review of the Corps of Cadets will be held on the Parade grounds at 11:45 A.M. on the day of all four home games. Prior to the Notre Dame and Virginia games, there will be parades in the stadium at 12:30. The Army-Navy parade will start at 12:00 in Municipal Stadium.

BAND: 109 Enlisted men. Major William H. Shempf, Commanding Officer, Director of Music and Bandmaster.

MICHIE STADIUM: Constructed in 1924. Dedicated to the memory of Dennis Michie, the first football coach and captain at West Point. Dedicated November 15, 1924 in the game between Army and Columbia, which resulted in a 14 to 14 tie. Concrete, horseshoe shaped, the stadium capacity is 27,000.

OUTLOOK

The Army team is best characterized as being thin in reserves, short on experience, but bigger physically than any of its predecessors since 1950.

Confronted with possibly the most rugged schedule in the 68 year history of the game here, Coach Earl Blaik is jointly faced with the task of rebuilding a squad that suffered severely by losses through graduation.

Only four regulars are back in the fold from the team that won 5, lost 3, and tied Navy in an exciting climax to the 1956 campaign. Captain Jim Kernan, center, and Stan Slater, an outstanding guard, are the two linemen returning. Of the starting backfield against the Middies, only Dave Bourland, quarterback, and Mike Morales, halfback, are on hand.

The problems facing the coaching staff were compounded in Spring practice when it was learned that the status of Gene Mikelonis, potentially one of the finest running backs to play here in a decade, is uncertain. Injured in the opener against VMI, Mikelonis was out for the season. Prior to injuring his knee, the 20 year old second classman impressed with a 9 yard carrying average. Two operations have been performed on the knee. Gene did not play at all in the Spring, and it is questionable whether the knee will respond in time for heavy duty this season.

To offset the opposition's superiority of manpower which figures to tax Army's resources to the maximum, Blaik and his aides are committed to a more open style of play. A staunch advocate of the running game, Blaik is seeking to alleviate the pressure on his undermanned forces by placing a greater accent on forward passing.

In Dave Bourland, a first classman from El Paso, lies the key to this stratagem. "For the first time in two years," Blaik points out, "we are not faced with the prospects of another major experiment."

The veteran tactician, now in his 17th season as head coach on the Plain, was of course, referring to the quarterback position where he has had to gamble with inexperienced players.

In 1955 Blaik accomplished what the experts called "the impossible" when he converted all-America end Dop Holleder, into a quarterback in one season. The payoff came with an upset victory over Navy. Last year, Blaik developed Bourland into a starting quarterback despite the fact that Dave played only momentarily in a few games the previous season.

Bourland's constant development has taken the onus off the position of field general. A virtual nonentity as a sophomore, his importance to the Black Knights looms larger each day. He assumed command as a regular at the midway mark in 1956, and did a commendable job on defense as well as offense. He completed 21 passes for 394 yards, and pitched six aerials for scores.

Though the coaching staff is not pessimistic, it is apprehensive. The nucleus of the squad lies in a dozen lettermen. Only four of these are back from tackle to tackle. In addition, no interior linemen were realized from the Plebe squad. It is obvious then, that the line is the staff's principal concern.

Comparatively speaking, the backfield fared much better. Six lettermen have returned plus several good prospects from the Plebe squad. In addition to Bourland, those who have seen extensive game action include Mike Morales, Gil Roesler and Harry Walters, all sophs last year, and Vince Barta and Tony Munger, each with two full varsity campaigns behind him.

New-comers not to be overlooked include Pete Dawkins, a second classman who excelled in Spring practice, Bob Anderson, Steve Waldrop, and George Kaiser, a coterie of erstwhile Plebe backs.

Of course, Bob Kyasky who was awarded the Army Athletic Association Trophy as the most outstanding athlete in the graduating class, will be difficult to replace. His speed and all-round ability were great assets to the '56 squad and are not matched by any of the current crop.

The coaching staff has been working overtime in an effort to revamp the forward wall. Kernan and Slater are outstanding competitors. They are certain to maintain their grasp on starting jobs at center and guard. Competition for the five other posts, however, has been stiff.

Bill Graf and Dick Warner, second string ends a year ago, have the inside track. Both are letter winners and both are seniors. Their main opposition stems from Don Usry and Bill Carpenter, a pair of rangy receivers, from the Plebe squad.

At tackle the situation in general is tantamount to being critical. Three of the first four were lost. Fred Wilmoth and Bill Melnik, the two biggest men on the squad weighing in at 230 pounds, and Bill Rowe, a converted guard, are vying for the starting positions. Wilmoth and Rowe, yearlings last fall, are both lettermen. Melnik, a first classman, has been consistently hampered by injuries and has not had enough playing time to win a letter.

Charlie Lytle, Bob Novogratz, and Ernie Lenart are waging a close battle for the job as Slater's running mate at guard. None has had any considerable experience. Lytle and Lenart held varsity status but failed to earn a letter. Novogratz did not play football in 1956.

Kernan who edged out team Captain Ed Szvetecz for the starting job last Fall is the only center with any varsity experience. During the Spring workouts Bob Oswandel and John Morrison were being brought along.

It is evident that the success of the season hinges to a large degree on the first four games. On successive Saturdays, the Cadets face Nebraska, Penn State, Notre Dame, and Pittsburgh. Without benefit of a "breather," Army then meets Virginia, Colgate, Utah, Tulane, and Navy.

The Corps of Cadets, which plays a significant part in the spirit and morale of the team, is scheduled to lend partial support at the Virginia game, and its full backing at the Navy, Notre Dame and home games.

VARSITY COACHES

EARL H. (RED) BLAIK
Head Coach

The current campaign marks his 24th in the college head coaches' fraternity. An eminent authority in the field of inter-collegiate athletics, he has the added responsibility of Athletic Director and heads up one of the most comprehensive programs in the country.

He has devoted virtually a life time to athletics. As a player, coach, and administrator, his experience spans four decades. More than half of this time has been at West Point where his service includes seven years as backfield coach, and the remaining seventeen as head mentor.

Possessing the finest record over the longest period of time of any active football coach, he led Army to two National and six Eastern titles. Under his tutelage the Black Knights completed five undefeated seasons and have compiled winning streaks of 32 and 28 games. His West Point teams have averaged less than two defeats a season. He also brought laurels to Dartmouth. The Big Green captured the Ivy League crown in 1936 and 1937.

The success of his teams has naturally brought him personal acclaim. He was named Coach of the Year in 1946 by his colleagues in the coaching profession. He was similarly honored by the Touchdown Club of Washington in 1953. Last year, he and Al Lopez, Manager of the Chicago White Sox, were the recipients of the New York Press Photographer's Award as "the most congenial and cooperative figures in the world of sport."

One of the most influential coaches in the game, he has had the distinction of elevating twelve members of his staff to head coaching positions at major schools. He has developed 23 first team all-Americans including the incomparable Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard who were named to the exclusive circle three successive years.

Possibly his foremost coaching effort was the 1953 season when he captured the plaudits of the sports world by returning Army to its former position of prominence among the football elite in the surprisingly brief span of two years. Many historians refer to this feat as not only his finest coaching job, but also one of the more notable achievements in gridiron annals.

Excelling in football, baseball, and basketball both at Miami (Ohio) University and at West Point, he was awarded the coveted Army Athletic Association saber as the outstanding athlete in the Class of 1920. He was the first Cadet ever to compete against Navy in three sports. In addition, he was named a third team end on Walter Camp's All-America in 1919.

Following two years of service with the 8th Cavalry, he resigned his commission to enter the contracting and real estate business with his father in Dayton. He maintains major commercial ties as a bank director and corporation official.

He accepted his first coaching assignment as a hobby in 1926, serving under George Little at Wisconsin.

He first came to West Point as backfield mentor under Biff Jones in 1927, and returned to the Plain each fall for the succeeding seven years, serving in the same capacity under the late Ralph Sasse and Gar Davidson, now the Academy's Superintendent.

Dartmouth selected Blaik as head coach in 1934. In his seven year tenure at Hanover, he was highly successful. The Big Green won 45, lost 15, and tied 4 and compiled a winning streak of 21 straight. One of his principal achievements there provided Dartmouth with its first victory in the Yale Bowl, a target that had eluded the Indians for more than half a century.

He responded to the call of his Alma Mater in 1941, returning to the Plain to rescue her declining football fortunes, which had reached the lowest ebb in history. Army team victories have mounted to 106 in these sixteen years as compared to 31 defeats and 9 ties.

ASSISTANTS

DICK VORIS

A native of Los Angeles, he has been a mainstay of Earl Blaik's staff since 1955 when he assumed responsibility as offensive line coach.

An astute observer and teacher, he has gained the reputation as one of the outstanding young coaches in the country. His experience has been varied, if not lengthy. He has been signally successful at the professional, college, junior college, and high school levels.

Prior to coming to West Point, he enjoyed one successful season as line coach of the Los Angeles Rams. As head coach at Hartnell Jr. College, he compiled a brilliant record winning 21 straight games, a streak that was climaxed with a victory in the junior Rose Bowl in 1951.

Dick attended Hartnell and was graduated from San Jose State in 1948. He was an all-league and all-sectional center at Hartnell, and held the varsity center job for two years at State.

A Master Sergeant in the Marine Corps, he saw action in the Marshalls and Gilbert Islands during World War II. He is one of the finest golfers currently at the Academy.

CHARLES GOTTFRIED

The only representative of Big Ten football on Earl Blaik's staff, he was appointed in the Spring to succeed Roger Antaya as end coach.

An outstanding athlete in his own right, he had exceptional success in both football and wrestling at the University of Illinois. Carrying the colors of the Fighting Illini, he captured the Big Ten heavyweight wrestling diadem in 1948, and was runner-up for the National championship the same year.

Playing under Ray Eliot, he won all-Big Ten honors as a guard on the Illinois football team that captured both the Conference title in 1946 and the succeeding Rose Bowl game. He also participated in the Blue-Gray all-star football game at Montgomery, Alabama, in 1949.

Since graduating from Illinois in 1950, he coached one year at Urbana High School, then moved on to the University of Idaho for a three year stretch as line coach, and returned to the secondary school ranks for another three year period at Thornton High, Calumet City, Illinois.

DALE HALL

A native of Parsons, Kansas, he graduated from West Point in 1945, but did not enter the coaching profession until four years later.

As a Cadet he compiled a brilliant record as an athlete. He was accorded the Army Athletic Association trophy presented annually to the man rendering "the most valuable service to athletics during his Cadet career."

He participated in football, basketball and tennis and was outstanding in all three sports. He was a halfback on Army's 1944 football squad which recorded a perfect season in winning the National championship. He was an all-America basketball player, and one of the finest ever to represent Army.

He was separated from the service in 1949 with the rank of 1st Lieutenant, and immediately turned his talents to the coaching profession, serving alternately at Purdue, New Hampshire, and Florida prior to joining Red Blaik's staff as defensive backfield coach and head scout in 1956.

While on active duty in Germany, he was head coach of the 2nd Constabulary Regiment which won the European championship in 1947.

TOM HARP

The youngest member of the varsity coaching staff, the 29 year old backfield coach is now in his second season at the college level.

Following a signally successful five year tenure in the Ohio High School coaching ranks, he joined Earl Blaik's staff in 1956.

A native of Barnesville, Ohio, his over-all record as a secondary school coach is impressive. His teams won 37, lost 9, and tied 2.

He launched his coaching career at Carrollton High and remained there for three years. The next two seasons were at Massillon High, famed as a perennial power in the Buckeye State.

Under his tutelage, Massillon compiled an impressive winning streak of 71 straight games, won the Ohio State Championship in 1954, and finished in the runner-up position the following season.

A graduate of Muskingum College in 1951, he has had one year of post-graduate work at Miami (Ohio) University. During his college career, he alternated between quarterback and fullback in the Muskie backfield.

FRANK X. LAUTERBUR

One of the newest members of the Army coaching staff, he succeeded Carney Laslie as defensive line coach at the outset of Spring practice. His coaching experience spans a decade and includes service at the high school, college and professional levels.

A graduate of Mt. Union College in 1949, he also attended Oberlin College in the Marine Corps V-12 program during World War II. He received an M. A. degree from Kent State University in 1955.

A native of Sidney, Ohio, he entered the coaching profession after graduation dividing five years between Wickliffe and Collinwood High Schools in the Buckeye State.

Following a two year stint at Kent State in 1953 and 1954, he moved into professional football where he served as offensive tackle and defensive line coach of the Baltimore Colts. He held the latter position for two years prior to coming to West Point.

Serving with the Marine Corps for thirty-three months, he held the rank of 2nd Lieutenant when he was separated from the service in 1946.

ROLAND BEVAN

Trainer

Trainer, author, and consultant in the field of physical conditioning of athletes, he is currently in his 24th year as an associate of Earl Blaik.

He has devoted a life time to athletics. Prior to joining Blaik's staff at Dartmouth as head trainer in 1934, he was successful as a coach in both the high school and college ranks.

For his outstanding contribution to the game of football, he was awarded the coveted Touchdown Club trophy in 1942. In a recent survey, he was signally honored as the finest high school coach produced in Ohio in a fifty year span. He served successively at Steele (Dayton), Rayen (Youngstown), and Woodward (Toledo) high schools.

He produced two National high school football championship teams, and several all-Ohio basketball quintets. He was director of Physical Education and coached several sports at Muskingum College, Ohio Northern, and Dayton Universities.

Stricken with a stroke in July, he will not join the team this Fall.

MEET THE ARMY TEAM

CAPTAIN JIM KERNAN, '58, 6:0, 190, 21, Center, Youngstown, Ohio.

Seriously injured near the end of his Plebe football season, he has made an amazing comeback which was climaxed by his election as Army's 68th football captain. In a scrimmage session against the varsity in preparation for the 1954 Navy game, he suffered a severe neck sprain and a slight concussion that all but ended his athletic career. He was hospitalized for six weeks and did not turn out for Spring football. Sitting in the stands for the season's opener in 1955, he became uneasy watching his former teammates in action. Some urging on the part of team Captain Pat Uebel fostered Jim's return to the game. With less than a week of practice, he played against Penn State and saw action in each of the remaining seven games. His play improved considerably and he wrested the starting job from Ed Szvetecz early in the 1956 season. This was no mean feat in view of the fact that Szvetecz was also team captain. On the small side as big time college centers go, his quickness and mental alertness are the characteristics that have made him an outstanding linebacker. A brilliant student, he stands in the top five percent of his class and wore gold stars during his second class year for academic excellence. A fine leader, he commanded Camp Shea during Summer training. Prior to entering the Military Academy, he attended East High School where he was football captain and Most Valuable Player in his senior year. His favorite pastimes include reading and letter writing. An erstwhile bowler, he has rolled a 289.

BOB ANDERSON, '60, 6:2, 200, 19, Back, Cocoa, Fla.

A standout on last year's Plebe team, he showed well in Spring practice and is expected to see considerable action at halfback this Fall. Won 15 letters in football, basketball, baseball and track at Cocoa High School, and captained the football and basketball teams in his senior year. Was an all-state and high school all-America halfback. As a Plebe he played basketball and baseball as well as football. He sings in the Chapel Choir. Brother is an Air Force Lieutenant.

*Highlights: Bob Kyasky's passing and running sparked a nine-play fifty-five yard march to pay dirt the first time Army got the ball, and before the first quarter was over, Kyasky had put the Cadets ahead 14 to 0 on a 24-yard bootleg run. It appeared that Army was on its way to a rout, but the Nittany Lions dug in and battled the Cadets to a standstill the rest of the way. Milt Plum moved Penn State to Army's eleven yard line in the second quarter, and engineered another drive that was capped by Maurice Schleicher's two-yard scoring plunge on the opening play of the final period. Kyasky saved the game for Army with the defensive gem of the day when he fought off a blocker and knocked Bruce Gilmore out of bounds, after the State Sophomore had maneuvered into the clear and appeared headed for a sure touchdown.

Games: 34—Won by Army 7, by Notre Dame 23, Tied 4

*Highlights: Notre Dame Stadium had 1,800 extra bleacher seats arranged at the end of the field, so 57,800 fans could be on hand for the "last game" of this great series. Terry Brennan caught the opening kick-off on the Notre Dame three, and with key blocks from Bill Fischer, Jim Martin, and George Connor, ran 97 yards to give the Fighting Irish the lead. Before the first quarter was over, Brennan had scored again to put Notre Dame in front 13 to 0. Arnold Galiffa, Rip Rowan, and Bobby Jack Stuart made some yardage for the Cadets, but the Irish line held whenever Army appeared to be really on the move. Johnny Lujack surprised many by calling a running game with only an occasional pass to Martin or Leon Hart. A spectacular tackle by Brennan kept Rowan from going all the way before the end of the half, and Notre Dame sewed up the game on a third period score by Bob Livingstone. After Rowan scored for the Black Knights early in the final period to climax a 55-yard drive, Larry Coutre hit pay dirt for the Irish to complete a return march of 80 yards. Joe Steffy, John Trent, Bill Yeoman, and Goble Bryant were the outstanding Army linemen. Lujack, Brennan, Hart, Emil Sitko, and Mike Swistowitz were a few of the standouts in a great Notre Dame effort.

The chunky Pitt quarterback personally gained 138 yards rushing, just 21 less than the total for the entire Army team. Army scored first in the second period when Kyasky cut back over his own left tackle and scampered 14 yards to pay dirt. The Cadets had previously been held on the Pitt one after making a first down on the three. Despite a fumble which set up the Panthers first score, Army led 7 to 6 at halftime on the strength of Dick Murtland's placement. Another Cadet fumble led to Pitt's second touchdown, and an unsuccessful fourth down gamble at mid-field by Bourland in the final period started the Panthers on their final scoring drive.

It was a thriller all the way as Army led 21 to 20 at the half. Colgate moved into a 26 to 21 third quarter lead before touchdowns by Kyasky, Bourland, and Stephenson took the Black Knights out of reach. Bourland, making his first varsity start at quarterback, completed five passes in seven attempts including three scoring heaves to Stephenson. Colgate's Jack Call also crossed the goal line three times as did Army's Kyasky. The longest run of the day was Kyasky's seventy yard dash on a first quarter draw play. The Red Raiders' Guy Martin kept his team in the contest by completing 24 passes for 259 yards. Sophomore end Al Jamison was Martin's favorite target, and two of his circus catches resulted in touchdowns. In all, the teams gained 939 yards and totaled 44 first downs. CO-CAPTAINS: Larry Amizich and Bob Lee — ENROLLMENT: 8,300

COLORS: Crimson & White — BAND: 150 Piece

This will be the first meeting between Army and Utah. Although the Cadets have met 134 opponents since 1890, Utah is the first member of the Skyline Conference to play at Michie Stadium. Some 20,000 Boy Scouts of America are expected to swell the crowd to sell-out proportions.

Games: 1—Tie Game

*Highlights: A homecoming crowd of 33,000 in New Orleans saw the Green Wave check Army in what was regarded as a major upset. Tommy Bell's running, Pete Vann's passing, and the offensive and defensive play of Bob Mischak were the bright spots for the Cadets. A first period touchdown pass from Vann to Mischak was called back when a backfield in motion penalty was ruled. Tulane drove to the Army eight yard line in the final quarter, but Mischak blocked a fourth down field goal attempt by Clement.

Games: 57—Won by Army 29, by Navy 23, Tied 5

*Highlights: The Cadets outgained the heavily favored Middies 237 yards to 132, and registered 12 first downs against 5 for Navy. Army lost the ball 5 times on fumbles, however, and one of these set up a 27-yard scoring drive midway in the final period. Dick Dagampat plunged over for the TD, and Ned Oldham's kick tied the score. Bob Kyasky's plunge, following a 26-yard runback of an interception by Dave Bourland, had given Army the lead early in the third quarter. The game ended as Cadet Jim Kennedy's 35-yard field goal attempt fell short.

MASCOT

For more than fifty years the mule has been identified as the mascot of Army football. Selected by the Corps of Cadets near the turn of the century, the mule was picked probably because it was the best known animal to be identified with the U.S. Army. Sturdy and dependable, the mule was used to haul guns and supplies in many of our Nation's battles. In the bush country of the Philippines, the rice fields of China and mud of France, the mule proved a faithful friend to the foot soldier.

With the advent of mechanized warfare, the role of the mule, like that of the horse, was relegated virtually into oblivion. Two of the breed, however, still carry on in the role of Army mascot, which was cut out for them more than a half century ago. One is a full-sized Missouri mule named Hannibal. The other is a tiny burro called Pancho. The latter was presented to the Corps of Cadets in 1939 by former Ambassador Colon Alfaro of Ecuador. Mean and vicious when she arrived in New York, Pancho required two soldiers to escort her off the ship. A comparative newcomer, Hannibal succeeded Mr. Jackson, who was retired in 1949 after "long and faithful service."

In addition to romping in tailor made, Black, Gold and Grey blankets at Michie Stadium, both mules are transported to all Army football games in New York City and Philadelphia. For other out of town games, however, any mule at the nearest Army post is pressed into service.
